

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY OF GUAM

The University of Guam was established in 1952 and began as a two-year teacher-training school with 200 students and 13 staff members. Today, the University of Guam is considered as the major institution of higher education here in the Western Pacific. The University intends and is designed to bring success in the future lives of students, through sharp-focused education to those who wish to pursue a certain professional degree. Because the University offers courses with smaller classrooms, it gives students a great opportunity to build a good student-teacher relationship and helps them acquire more focus in their studies. The University of Guam provides a sole opportunity to gain skills, attitude, abilities, assistance, and a sizeable amount of local and international knowledge.
