AT THE UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA, WE are EXPLORERS.

We believe that education is an adventure. We know that the pathway to achieving excellence goes beyond the classroom – it's a journey of exploration.

Exploration is about doing research that inspires you, getting real-world job experience, building lifelong friendships in a new city, and trying new things in your day-to-day life.

Exploration is about using your curious mind to discover and understand a subject inside and out. It means asking tough questions and actively seeking the answers, and knowing your area of expertise through and through. It's also about you and your life experience. We want you to explore your skills and talents...and discover new ones that you never knew you had!

UAlberta is the place to take your journey to excellence.

- PERSONAL DISCOVERY
- ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT
- CAREER DEVELOPMENT
- GLOBAL PERSPECTIVE

PEOPLE SAY IT TAKES A VILLAGE TO RAISE YOU, AND U OF A HAS BECOME MY VILLAGE.

"At UAlberta, I learned that it's not all about your grades or your GPA. That's just two lines on your resume. It's more about your networking, how many people you know, your extra-curricular activities, and doing things that actually count towards your future."

UALBERTA ALUMNI STORY

Ken Bautista, BEd 1999

Ken Bautista is Co-Founder of Startup Edmonton and Flightpath Ventures, activating and investing in Edmonton's startup community through initiatives like The Startup City Project and Students to Startups. Ken has been in the creative/tech industry for over 10 years, co-founding several interactive companies, most recently Rocketfuel Games, an educational games studio, and co-founded community initiatives like TEDxEdmonton and artsScene Edmonton.

"In my second year of University, I decided to be an Orientation Leader, and during Orientation Week, I was actually Patches the Panda mascot! It was super fun! Since by second year I knew what I wanted to do, I became a lot more engaged, which I think makes a big difference. And then I joined the Education Student's Association, and in my third and fourth year I was the Technology Director for the ESA and then helped to develop the new website, things like that. Since graduating, I've had two companies. During that time, I worked with different incubators in the city that would offer some space and some coaching, which were really valuable for me because I didn't know anything, really, so I wanted to learn from everyone around me. But you had to step out and start doing that in those environments. I think the thing that was missing there was the community piece. And I think with the second company, Rocketfuel Games, especially since we were working with companies a lot outside of Edmonton, and people thought we were working from Vancouver or Toronto because we were developing educational kids software and we spent a lot of time on the road. Then coming back to Edmonton we thought, "is there anything going on here, why create this thing here." And that's where the first Startup Edmonton stuff started to form was because we could either take off, which would be the easy thing to do, or we could try to make something happen here.

In Edmonton, because it is smaller (or a small big city), we have a chance to make noise, and raise the bar for what we're doing. I think that has been the difference, especially over the last three to five years - there has been a new wave of leaders coming out and building companies, starting stuff, doing things. When you start to get that mass, then the rest of the community starts to notice, and in bigger cities that doesn't tend to happen."

"I took a class this Winter on fluid-particle systems and applications. Instead of a final exam we had a presentation. It was the first time I did that. People get to see what you are doing; they're listening; they're asking questions. You are making a little bit of contribution to the field. I also increased my skills in communication. I felt like a rock star, honestly. I enjoyed that experience a lot."

To start the application process, you need to complete and submit the Application for Undergraduate Studies form. The application deadline for most direct entry programs is March 1. Some document(s) will be required with your application or by March 15 - please refer to the website to see which deadline applies to you. If you are a high school applicant, August 1 is the document deadline for the final results of your current year and all other required documents (June 15 if you are a transfer applicant). You should try to send your interim documents as soon as possible to get an admissions decision sooner.

You can get advanced standing or transfer credit if you successfully complete certain high school courses.

UAlberta can offer you transfer credit, advanced placement, or the opportunity for credit by special assessment if you have demonstrated excellence in specific subject areas under the GCE A-Level, IB, or AP curricula.

WWW.STUDYINCANADA.UALBERTA.CA/ADVANCEDSTANDING

UAlberta accepts many different international curricula.

In addition to IB, AP, British, and US-based curricula, UAlberta accepts many local high school curricula from around the world. Consult our website to see which curricula are accepted from your country.

You can complete your pre-professional year at UAlberta.

Most undergraduate programs can be entered directly from high school, but some require at least one year of pre-professional study before you can apply. You can take all of your pre-professional courses at UAlberta.

The Bridging Program (BP) is for excellent students who meet all of UAlberta's academic criteria but still need to improve their English skills in order to enter a degree program.

Students can take English language courses at UAlberta and earn academic credit at the same time. After you complete the BP successfully, you can continue as a full-time undergraduate student.

WWW.STUDYINCANADA.UALBERTA.CA/BRIDGING

You don't have to make the final decision about your major and minor right away.

UAlberta offers 200+ undergraduate programs so you have great flexibility to tailor your degree to your interests. In some programs, you can enroll in a Faculty but wait up to your third year to declare your major and minor areas of study.

"I'm doing my PhD in geology. I get to work independently on my own individual research project. I like the challenge of doing a lot of lab work and some field work. I did work in Fiji, looking at the volcanic history of mantle (the layer between Earth's crust and outer core). A lot of people here have field areas in Canada and other places around the world, like Tanzania, Africa."

UNDERGRADUATE ADMISSIONS

Admission is based on your complete academic history and achievement in three main areas:

- 1. YOUR ENGLISH PROFICIENCY
See page 35 for English proficiency requirements.
- 2. YOUR ACADEMIC HISTORY, SHOWING THAT YOU HAVE FULFILLED THE ACADEMIC SUBJECT REQUIREMENTS
For example, students from high school must show that they have successfully completed five academic subjects. The academic subjects you need to present will vary by program and Faculty. Find out which subjects you will need to present for your program of choice at:
WWW.STUDYINCANADA.UALBERTA.CA/ADMISSIONS
Some programs may have post-secondary prerequisites.
- 3. YOUR GRADES ON THE ACADEMIC SUBJECT REQUIREMENTS (as shown on your transcripts)
The minimum admission average to be accepted to UAlberta varies depending on the Faculty and program of your choice. The averages change each year.

"WHEN I FIRST CAME TO CANADA, I WENT TO THE INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SERVICES,

THEY WERE really HELPFUL.

THEY MADE IT REALLY EASY FOR ME TO APPLY FOR SCHOLARSHIPS AND TO REGISTER IN COURSES. THEY GAVE ME A LOT OF INFORMATION ON HOW TO REGISTER, WHERE TO GO, AND HOW TO CONTACT AN ADVISOR. THEY HELPED A LOT!"
