GENERAL ENGLISH FOR ACADEMIC PURPOSES

5 WEEKS INTENSIVE (100 HOURS)

14 FEBRUARY – 18 MARCH 2022

The General English for Academic Purposes (GEAP) program aims to develop the communication, language and learning skills needed to operate in social, professional and academic environments in both Australian and international contexts. Within this context, a range of learning goals can be accommodated.

Students intending to undertake future academic study, but needing to increase their current level of English proficiency will find this program meets their needs.

Other students that want to increase their confidence in using English to communicate both professionally and personally in a real-world context, but who do not have a goal of further academic study will also find this program meets their objectives.

Objectives of this program include:

- Developed understanding of the structure and function of the English language
- Developed ability to use spoken English in order to meet day to day needs
- Increased confidence in applying knowledge and skills actively
- Improved presentation of ideas in written styles, appropriate to language level

What our students say about online GEAP:

"It was easy to understand for me. My teacher teaching me so kindly."

"She gave us positive feed back. She is very kind to us. When I want to say something but I can't explain, she always wait for me."

"Group discussion time was the most useful time for me. Before I take this course, I didn't have confidence in my discussion ability. However, now I am confident in my discussion ability."

RESEARCH SKILLS

4 WEEKS (30 HOURS)

DATES: PLEASE ENQUIRE

The Research Communication Skills program aims to develop the communication, language and learning skills needed to operate in research environments in both Australian and international contexts, and has been designed to assist students in the future publication of their research. The program focuses on the development of students' speaking, listening, reading and writing within a research environment.

The teaching methodology is based on a communicative approach, with students doing pair work and group tasks. Appropriate texts, online resources and audio-visual materials support students' exploration of research communication. Students produce texts of their own in response to the themes examined in class, which are then used to illustrate practical ways in which students can improve their overall skills.

This program has been designed for students that are considering postgraduate or PhD research study in the Western academic context, or current postgraduate or PhD students that are planning on submitting papers to academic journals.

TEACHING METHODOLOGIES AND ENGLISH AS A MEDIUM OF INSTRUCTION (EMI) FOR TERTIARY EDUCATORS

4 WEEKS (36 HOURS)

The program will support participants by enhancing their awareness of teaching and learning methodologies, with specific focus on the practical application of strategies for their own context.

The program is suitable for academics and educators who are currently teaching their academic content in English or will be required to do so in the future. The program aims to increase participant's English language skills, build on their confidence in delivering academic content in English and develop practical teaching skills for University contexts.

Assessment, Certificate and Graduation

Students will receive an assessment and grade report upon completion of their program. To mark the end of the program, a virtual closing ceremony can be held at the conclusion if desired by our partner institutions. Students will be provided with a Certificate of Completion. Please note: these programs are non-award.

Student Support

We understand that many students may not have studied in online mode before. We offer a pre-program orientation for program participants so that they are able to test their equipment and resolve any technical questions prior to beginning their academic program. This also gives the opportunity for students to meet our friendly team who will be there to provide support throughout our virtual programs.

THE UNIVERSITY of ADELAIDE

ELC Social Club

Whether in-person or online, students love to interact with their peers from the University of Adelaide. Even though we can't meet in person, our online guided chat forums with local Adelaide volunteers and University of Adelaide students are a popular way to stay connected, and are an ideal way for students studying virtually with us to learn about Australian culture.
