Circular Economy Workshop

National Taipei University of Technology
Room 401, Pioneer International R&D Building

Cradle to Cradle : Together Towards a Sustainable Future !

The Circular Economy Workshop is a three-hour, in-person session designed to foster dialogue, collaboration, and active participation. Organized by National Taipei University of Technology (Taipei Tech), the workshop encourages participants to explore how individual actions can drive systemic change — shifting mindsets from consuming to using, and from ownership to access.

Through interactive modules combining visual tools, case studies, videos, and guided discussions, participants will break down the broad and complex concepts of the circular economy and environmental impact into tangible and relatable ideas.

By sharing experiences and engaging in group dialogue, attendees will gain diverse perspectives on how circular principles connect to everyday life, and collaboratively envision pathways toward a more sustainable future.

This is a workshop for an introductory understanding of circular economy concepts. Welcome to join us!
